DANGER Averted. A railroad tank car is inspected by officials Friday after a man was sprayed with hydrochloric acid when a valve pipe snapped off the car at 1:38 p.m. The accident happened at the Apex Oil Co. loading facility at the Tri-City Regional Port. The man, Duane Hayes, 55, of Grafton, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with burns caused by the acid. The spilled acid was quickly covered with agricultural lime to avert any danger from its fumes.

Burned in acid spill

Officials of the Tri-City Regional Port said today that they still are attempting to determine the cause of a rupture in a tank car of hydrochloric acid with resulted in a spill at the Apex Oil Co. loading terminal and the burning of one employee by the acid at 1:38 p.m. Friday.

Duane Hayes, 55, Grafton, Ill., a long-time employee of Apex, suffered burns to his right foot and ankle and near his left eye when something at the top of the tank car released liquid acid into the air above his head group. He was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted. "He's going to be all right," a fellow employee at Apex said this morning.

Carl Raft, general manager and secretary at the port, said it is his understanding that a hose broke on the tank car. Fire officials said they were told that a valve pipe may have snapped off. Apex officials declined comment on an incident.

Fortunately, there are no homes in close proximity to the loading area, where the spill occurred "or we would have had a much more serious problem with the fumes," according to George Smolich, assistant fire chief of Granite City, who assisted the Vicksburg Fire Department in the cleanup effort.

Firemen wore self-contained breathing masks and protective clothing in dealing with the spilled acid.

Seek grant to boost lure of A.O. Smith plant here

There is new hope for the A.O. Smith Corp. automotive frame assembly plant which once supplied jobs for hundreds in the area, but now sits on old Route 3. The Granite City Community Development Board is proposing that $240,000 in federal grant funds be used to entice industry back to the plant.

The block grants are provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development through Madison County. A county spokesman estimated Madison County will receive $3.2 million in Community Development (CD) funds for the 1982-83 federal budget year beginning Oct. 1.

Mayor Paul Schuler, chairman of CD District Two encompassing Quad-City area municipalities, said that the A.O.

Smith plant lies within a Granite City neighborhood area eligible for the funds.

Although the funds are intended to be used for projects in the community here, the mayor said that no specific use for the money had yet been determined.

The federal grant proposal must still be approved by the city, the county's CD office and then by the Chicago Area HUD office.

It is located in a steeply neighborhood areas around street and drainage systems at the plant site could be developed through the CD funds, the mayor said. Equipment which could be defined as part of the building could be purchased by the city.

"This is a bunch of money," Schuler said and it ought to offer an incentive to industries looking for a new location.

The mayor said he knows of two prospective clients interested in the plant, but does not include either Emerson Electric or McDonnell Douglas which had been rumored to be prospects.

Schuler said publicity about potential clients tends to ward off interested customers. "For some reason companies are so protective of their plans."

The mayor said the plant could last another five to seven years. At that time, he said the building showed no signs of deterioration.

The plant is staffed by a skeleton crew of the A.O. Smith Corp.

which has recently moved out some of its plant processes to other locations.

Mayor Schuler, acting as District Two chairman, held a meeting in February with representatives of the cities and townships within the district, which is estimated to receive a total of $550,000 of the county's $3.2 million.

Among those attending the meeting were Mayor Tyrone E. Pontoon, Venetie Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks of Chouteau Township, Harry Briggs of Nameoki Township and Christ Pashoff of Venice Township. The mayor said a representative also was present from the North Granite City.

Both the mayor and township supervisor and Madison County Board chairman chairman.

A decision was made at the meeting to divide the funds among the municipalities and townships, based on the population of each.

Tentative CD 1982-83 allocations are: Granite City, $316,969; Madison, $50,926

(see related story); Venice $29,962; Pontoon, $28,722; Nameoki, $85,495; Chouteau, $44,753; Venice Township unincorporated, $1,170.

The unincorporated Venice Township allocation is being challenged, (see story) as is the distribution of the figure upon which the grant is based and the fact that District Two has decided to use population as a basis for distribution, rather than economic need, although only low-income, blighted areas and "emergency" areas qualify for help in such municipalities.

Schuler said everyone at the meeting was aware that was something wrong with the population figure of 196 used for the unincorporated Venice Township share and have asked Pashoff to bring back a new figure.

Although only expecting $316,000 this year, the Granite City Development Board, consisting of residents appointed by the county board, based allocations here on a two-year cycle, estimating that Granite should receive more than $638,000 during that time.

The board has endorsed: $24,000 for the A.O. Smith project; $24,000 (in a two-year period) for the Granite City downtown redevelopment project; $16,000 (two-year) for the senior citizens' house-painting project, and $16,000 for completing the North Granite storm water retention pond project.

The Granite City Council held on approving the grants at its council meeting last Tuesday when the committee chairman said they had no prior knowledge of the grant proposals.

600 turn out for governor's speech

Republicans are alive and well in Madison County.

That was the message received by Governor James Thompson and state officials of the GOP and others attending the annual Lincoln Day dinner Thursday at Lewis & Clark Restaurant in East Alton. Approximately 600 persons, including a few Democratic office holders, filled the restaurant to overflowing and some had to be seated in separate rooms.

Edgar praised Dr. Edward Ragsdale, chairman of the GOP in Madison County, saying, "Only here, and in Sangamon County, are we able to turn out this kind of crowd."

Although Morton Blawell, a special assistant to President Ronald Reagan, was promoted as the keynote speaker of the evening, most attention centered on the brief appearance of Governor Thompson, who defended his proposed budget, (which he presented to the General Assembly the day before) and Democratic opponent Stevenson III, his Democratic opponent for governor, to come up with a better budget proposal before election day.

Stevenson has said he will present a budget recommendation after he is elected. Thompson says that is not good enough. "We need to beat Stevenson's budget. The people need to have a choice," he said. He's had at least 13 different positions on taxes since he was selected by the Democratic party."

He promised to "chase" Stevenson all over the state, if necessary, to force a budget proposal from him. "I'm not running from anything. I don't run when times get tough and times are tough," Thompson told the overflow crowd.

Speaking of his own budget proposal, the governor stated, "Most of the Democratic leadership didn't like it. Well, that's tough. Most of the people of Illinois are going to like it, because it is the kind of thing we have been shielded from severe government cuts longer than residents of other Midwestern states. "We in Illinois have been able to protect our people for at least two years longer than other states in the union because we put money in the bank when times were good and used that money when times were bad," he stated.

However, terming his fiscal 1983 proposal "a difficult budget," Thompson contended that people "will have to get used to, for the most part, doing without." He has become accustomed to it." He contended the time has come for the government to put "first things first," a theme he repeated throughout his talk.

He said support for the arts had to move over to retain funding for some prison programs "to get criminals off the street and put them in prison, where they belong."

Democrats debate treasurer's obligations

BY BILL WILSON
of the Press-Record

The two rivals to Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus in the Democratic primary see their selection by voters as critical to the financial well-being of schools, cities and other taxing bodies. The incumbent disagrees slightly with their views.

Both candidates for Granite City and Robert Still of Edwardsville propose to emphasize fast return to taxing bodies when property taxes are collected. Henkhaus, a Belthiota resident, prefers county tax collection to township collection and denies allegations that the police and fire lending institutions at the expense of taxpayers. He says his 1978-82 record in the office has been good.

Treasurer Henkhaus cites large earnings from investment of funds at the county level. His opponents say high interest rates in recent years were a factor in making such earnings appear larger. They contend that he is unable to give precise answers about the way he has dealt with and will deal with the needs of local governments and taxpayers.

The three opponents in the March 16 Democratic primary election for the office of county treasurer responded to questions posed by the Press-Record yesterday.

The editorial noted a "conflict of interest"—

"The longer that collections remain in county custody, the more potential there is for them to be invested at interest and to benefit the county government, meanwhile adding luster to the treasurer's investment record."

"But if the taxes are quickly distributed to taxing bodies, from each for its account systems, cities, towns and townships, it is likely that the county itself is one of the 'local' taxing bodies, providing many services to incorporated as well as unincorporated areas. It has its own legitimate claim to a portion of the tax take. However, it is only one of the local-level governmental agencies, and quite possibly the one which will sacrifice the overall realty tax 'pie.'"

Treasurer Henkhaus told the Press-Record, "When I was elected Madison County treasurer in 1978, one of my major goals was to improve the collection and distribution of real estate taxes. I feel I have been able to accomplish this goal while making money for the county."

"Taxes are due, which in the case would be April 15th. My office would beat that deadline by, I think, that date," he said. "I made six distributions to all 149 taxing districts in the county, with a total disbursement of $35,862,713. Also, we drew interest on these funds before they were disbursed."

"In 1978, taxpayers were allowed only 30 days to pay their taxes."

"I feel that—with the economy in its current state—this period is too short for many of the county taxpayers. Due to this factor, I changed the pay period to 60 days."

"I would like to revise it again for a total of 90 days between payments. My opponents think there are no constraints, but other delays in the tax system will not allow this extended period."

"As for collection by the county as compared to township collectors, the

Teachers assail pension proposal

The executive board of the 45,000-member Illinois Federation of Teachers (IFT) has reacted to condemn Governor Thompson's proposal to "cut dollars from teacher pension fund and from the school budget."

IFT executive board, passed a unanimous resolution assailing the governor's proposal to cut $5 million from state funding of kindergarten through 12th grade schools and $18 million from higher education funding.

The board said it was even more incensed at the governor's expressed intent to cut more than $102 million from the state's contribution to teacher pensions.

IFT President Robert Hough said, "The governor is trying to balance the state budget with funds that rightfully belong to teachers. He is renegeing on his promise not to repeat his action of last year when he also refused to fully fund teacher pensions."

Healy characterized Thompson's statement that he is giving $42 million more to teacher pensions this year (than last year) as a "gross misrepresentation of the facts."

Changes in scholarship applications at SIUE

Several important changes have occurred in the application for Illinois State Scholarships and the Illinois Commission (ISSC) awards for the 1982-83 academic year, according to John Jenettin, director of the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Changes have been made in the deadlines set for ISSC renewal and first-time applications, as well as the type of forms necessary for application.

Deadline for students who received the awards during the previous school year is June 1, 1982. Applications from students not enrolled during the previous school year are Oct. 1, 1982.

All applicants must be aware that failure to meet these deadlines will result in their applications having lowest priority and may prevent them from receiving an award, Jenettin said.

During the 1982-83 academic year, the ISSC will not have its own application form. Students may submit one of the following forms: American College Testing Program's Family Financial Statement (CT-FFPS), College Scholarship Service's Financial Aid Form (CSS-FAF) or Application for Federal Student Aid (AFSA), published by the U.S. Department of Education.

Application forms may be obtained from the SIUE Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance or from a high school counselor.

To be eligible for ISSC awards, students must be residents of Illinois, citizens or permanent residents of the U.S., or permanent residents of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

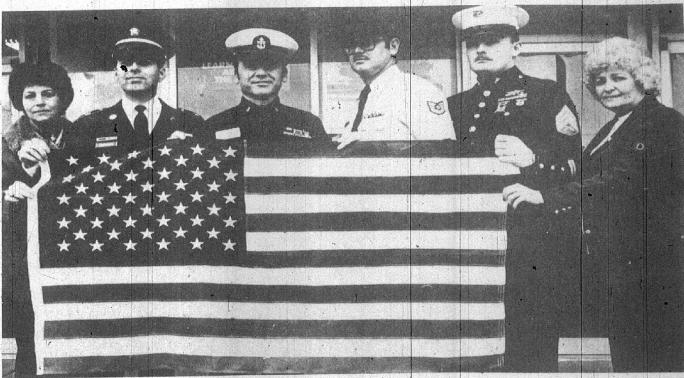

All applicants must be aware that failure to meet these deadlines will result in their applications having lowest priority and may prevent them from receiving an award, Jenettin said.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SUE Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, 1-692-3880.

Vadalabene, Manning see campaign in sharply differing ways

Critical, sometimes bitter, comments have been voiced in the state senatorial campaign by Michael M. Manning, 34, of Granite City, who opposes Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, 67, of Edwardsville, in the March 16 Democratic primary election.

They discuss the campaign issues from widely contrasting points of view.

Visiting the Press-Record office, Manning pictured the choice that faces voters as involving powerful, monied interests, on the one hand, versus citizens who are concerned about poor, neglected and deprived people.

"There is a serious degree of poverty in the Venice and Madison areas. Manning's record shows that there has been inadequate local coverage of election issues and potential issues."

He acknowledged that more space has been devoted in the Press-Record to campaign statements than to those submitted by Sen. Vadalabene. But he said there have been excessive numbers of photographs and articles about the senator's public appearance and various awards and plaques.

Manning believes his stand regarding "the common man" as opposed to what he believes is the attitude of the senator, could well be reflected in improved laws and conditions if he is elected to the Illinois Senate.

The Granite City regard himself as the primary dendron in the primary campaign, and believes his effort is deserving of extraordinary support by those who care about the quality of life.

He has been critical of the Post-Dispatch, which featured Sen. Vadalabene in its Sunday rotogravure magazine Oct. 18 but declined to give Manning similar recognition. That newspaper told Manning it might consider him if he comes up with a similarly long record in public life.

The primary election contender is especially critical of the incumbent senator for not participating in debates or joint campaign events with him.

Vadalabene also feels a bit unhappy with the focus of the campaign. There have been statements by Manning, published in the Press-Record and other papers, which the senator believes included inaccuracies.

Granite City Democratic Chairman William Harrison this winter voiced displeasure over the extent of news coverage being given to Manning's comments and activities.

Sen. Vadalabene, who likes to be known as "Senator Sam," is largely ignorant of the press' interest but nevertheless is campaigning vigorously.

The veteran legislator takes obvious pride in his record in the Senate, where he is among the most active of the senators, and when he staunchly defends his views. He notes that he devotes full time to his legislative duties and the needs of residents of the 56th District.

With two terms in the Democratic primary, there are as yet no Republican aspirant for the position of senator.

The district encompasses both the 11th Illinois House District, where Rep. Harold R. Sam Wolf, and the 12th, where Rep. Jim McPike is seeking re-election. Rep. Everett Steele is retiring from the Assembly after this year.

Sen. Vadalabene has been endorsed for re-election by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee and by various organizations and publications.

He has been seated at Springfield since January 1967—in the Illinois House for four years and in the Senate for more than 11 years.

He comments, "I am one of the citizens who have given me the privilege and honor of serving them over the last 15 years. I have devoted my full energies to the development and prosperity of this region and the state."

"I feel I have done everything in my power to be worthy of the confidence voters have vested in me. In the campaign, I am emphasizing my past record and the issues that face this

"I have learned in my years as your legislator that my effectiveness is strengthened by the strong support the voters have given me."

"Although no one could doubt my loyalty and commitment to the Democratic Party, the broad base of support I have received from people of all political persuasions has been a major asset."

"I respect all opinions, and listen to what my constituents have to say. No phone call goes unanswered. And I respond to all correspondence, either by letter, meetings or personal contact."

He said he "stands by the slogan that has stood me in good stead for so long—Senator Sam stands for service."

Vadalabene was born in Detroit. He attended St. Boniface School in Edwardsville; Sacred Heart School in Pana, and Pana Township High School.

After marrying his wife, Mary, he settled in Edwardsville; they have five children. He was in private business before beginning his full-time legislative service with the November 1968 General Assembly election.

Vadalabene served with the 29th Infantry Division in Europe during World War II. He received the combat infantry badge, three battle stars, the European-Mediterranean ribbon, good conduct medal and presidential unit citation.

In non-elective public service, he has been an Edwardsville Township Auditor and a member of the staffs of former State Auditor of Public Accounts Michael Howlett and former State Superintendent of Schools George T. Wilkins. He was elected as a town auditor for 1965-66.

His present Senate committee assignments are as chairman of executive appointments, administration and veterans affairs; vice-chairman of appropriations II, and member of the insurance, executive and higher education committees related to his senatorial service.

These include the Transportation Study Commission, Legislative Space Needs Commission, Energy Resources Commission, Agent Orange Commission, Illinois National Guard, Illinois Association of County Superintendents of Schools.

He is the first elected public official ever to be selected for the Crusade of Courage Award, presented by the Illinois Creditors of Columbus.

State legislative director for Italian-American War Veterans and Illinois Senate Legislative director for Veterans of Foreign Wars, he also is active in such groups as the Elks, Moose and American Legion.

Manning, a Marine Corps

Commissioner which he chairs are the Cities and Villages Municipal Protection Committee, the Commission to Visit and Examine State Institutions, and the Illinois Mississippi River Water Commission.

Vadalabene is vice-chairman of the Illinois Atoms Energy Commission and Illinois Motor Vehicle and Laws Commission. He is secretary of the Legislative Audit Commission.

Chairman of the Legislative Advisory Committee to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, he also is active on a number of other

A bankruptcy decree followed a business failure in 1977, and his involvement in the 1980 campaign that ended in the defeat of two circuit judges who were seeking reelection.

He said his disclosures showed that the senatorial campaign has attracted "at least one candidate who will openly discuss his past mistakes."

He summed up by saying he has been "in the middle of as many human errors as anyone in this district," but that his weaknesses have made him a stronger individual.

"For someone who fits the classic mold of the depressed and anti-establishment Vietnam veteran, I have everything going for me,"

Manning said. "I have thousands of other combat veterans who have faced serious readjustment problems with their educations, finances and marriages, I am living proof that the system can't keep a good man down."

Missouri-Illinois Regional Red Cross Blood Services now is accepting persons weighing 105 pounds or more as possible blood donors.

This is a five-pound reduction from the previous weight limit of 110 pounds.

According to Frank R. Ellis, M.D., medical director of Missouri-Illinois Red Cross Blood Services, this weight reduction has come about after extensive research conducted by the American Red Cross National Headquarters.

"These studies indicated that it is safe for those individuals weighing 105 pounds to give," said Dr. Ellis. "Red Cross encourages all healthy citizens weighing 105 or more pounds to give blood," Dr. Ellis concluded.

Missouri-Illinois Regional Red Cross Blood Services accept blood from 140 hospitals in 59 eastern Missouri and southern Illinois counties.

Approximately 800 units of blood are needed every day to supply hospitals with adequate blood supplies.

People between the ages of 17 and 65, who have no history of hepatitis, cancer or heart disease are urged to become regular blood donors. Persons 66 and older must have a doctor's consent from their physician to donate four weeks prior to their donation.

SEMC Auxiliary seeks volunteers

Additional volunteers are needed to help operate the Gift and Coffeeshop and the patient service television project at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, it was reported at last week's meeting of the SEMC Hospital Auxiliary.

Twenty-five members and six guests met in the medical center's Pascal Hall, with the newly elected president, Bee Oono, in charge.

Sister Mary Joannas, SEMC administrator, and Sister Mary Francis expressed appreciation to auxiliary members for their assistance in various programs, which greatly benefit the hospital.

Special needs also were conveyed to those members who remained overnight at the hospital to help the staff during the Jan. 31-Feb. 1 snow storm.

Helen Bergfeld, vice president, said more volunteers are needed to operate the auxiliary's in-hospital programs.

The duties and responsibilities of a volunteer were described by women currently working in each department.

Mrs. Cook announced the group will continue to donate $200 each month toward the SEMC nutrition program.

In the social hour games and prizes and 10 prizes were awarded. Six other gifts were distributed among those attending.

A dessert course of cherry pie and ice cream was served. All the table appointments were in a Washington's Birthday theme.

The auxiliary will hold its next regular business meeting on May 24.

Art-real or fake—topic of dialogue

An art historian will tell the story of the most famous art forgers and fakers and how they are caught, at the March 10 Dialogue with Senior Citizens at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Pamela DeCoutere, SIUE associate professor of art who has extensive training in authentication techniques in Belgium, will show how counterfeits make their fake masters, either by duplicating a famous work or by imitating the master's style in an original work.

Art history, infrared photography, X-rays and paint tests for cobalt and hardness to keep the fakes from "duplicating" the art world, she said, but some famous art works like the Mona Lisa are fake.

The Dialogue, sponsored by the Gerontology Program at SIUE, meets at 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi-Illinois Room of the University Center. It is part of a series of six series of different speakers or programs each Wednesday afternoon through May. Admission is free.

Building with concrete to be explored

A seminar for managers who work with constructing concrete structures will be presented Saturday, March 13, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The program is sponsored by the department of engineering and technology and the Office of Continuing Education at SIUE. Luke M. Snell, director of the Construction Program at SIUE, said, "The program highlights correct construction and inspection procedures, as well as the latest developments in construction of field problems. Hands-on demonstrations will be used by the instructors of the course."

The seminar is designed for people working at any level in management who are involved in concrete construction projects. Joseph A. Amon, manager and senior engineer for the Louisville Branch of Law Engineering Testing Co., and Dennis C. Shirey, manager of technical services for Marquette Co., will lead the session. Both men have served as consultants for several construction firms and have presented seminars on concrete projects nationwide.

The seminar will meet from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Room 2010, SIUE Science Building. The tax deductible fee, including luncheon and meeting materials, is $45, payable to SIUE.

BURGLAR ENTERS THROUGH TWO DOORS

In a burglary at the home of Eugene Wimberly, 1627 Delmar Ave., the intruder smashed glass panes in the storm door and an inside door to gain entry, probably by climbing through the broken windows.

A 19-inch color television, valued at $350, was taken. The burglary was the second in about a month and the fourth within the past year at the residence, police were advised.

A major study just published by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. reveals that an overwhelming majority of both its own membership and the general public approves of the organization's efforts to increase minority participation. The study also shows that most non-white Girl Scout adults feel the organization has given them the chance to be involved at all levels, and the majority of members, both white and nonwhite, believe that minorities have had a positive impact on Girl Scouting.

"These results indicate that Girl Scouting has made impressive strides in reaching out to minorities and moving toward its goals of equal opportunity and pluralism," concluded Dr. Robert E. Hill, who directed this study while serving as director of research for The National Urban League. In addition, Dr. Hill, a former research associate with the Bureau of Social Science Research in Washington, D.C., also noted that the Girl Scout survey is "unprecedented because it oversampled an minority group to achieve the largest number of minority respondents in a nationwide survey of this type." Of the more than 6,000 respondents, he explained, 40 percent were members of minority groups: Black, Hispanic, Asian and American Indian.

Girl Scout National President Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, recently reelected to a second term, recently announced that the National Board of Directors had passed a resolution reaffirming its strong commitment to the goals of equal opportunity and diversity. The Board also recommended that the pursuit of a major corporate goal which says: "Girl Scouts of U.S.A. will promote respect for and appreciation of the religious, racial, ethnic, social and economic diversity of this country by reflecting that diversity in its membership, leadership and program, and by eliminating institutional racism in Girl Scouting."

Called "The Impact of Minority Presence in Girl Scouting on White and Minority Communities," the study, conducted in the spring of 1981, involved surveys of six different groups. Three of the six groups — girl members and adult members of Girl Scouts as well as non-Girl Scout girls — were surveyed by the Roper Organization, which has conducted earlier public opinion studies for the Girl Scouts, surveyed a cross section of the American public, a national sampling of Girl Scout leaders and a national sampling of Hispanic adults.

Survey results show that 84 percent of the American public think Girl Scouting is "excellent" or "good." The percentage of favorable opinions since the last survey of the general public was conducted for Girl Scouts in 1977, also by The Roper Organization, has been among blacks, whose proportion rose from 74 to 81 percent; among whites and Hispanics, whose proportion rose from 69 to 81 percent during the same time period.

The proportion of white favorable opinions increased by one percentage point, to 81 percent.

Among Girl Scouting's own girl membership, over 80 percent of the respondents think Girl Scouting is "good" or "great" with minority members having even higher positive opinions than whites. Nine out of ten of the adult members also think Girl Scouting is "excellent" or "good," with minority members feeling just as positive as whites.

The study also found that involvement with Girl Scouting has been on the increase throughout the nation. Between 1977 and 1981, the proportion of people involved in Girl Scouting-related activities, personally or through a family member, rose from two-fifths to one-half the nation.

Overall, 60 percent of the whites in the general public have had some Girl Scout involvement, personally or through a family member; so have 46 percent of blacks and 35 percent of Hispanics.

Over the past four years, the proportion of Girl Scout adults who approve of minority persons being members of Girl Scouting rose from 83 to 90 percent.

Seventy-three percent of Girl Scout adults report Girl Scouting efforts to get more minorities to join, while only six percent oppose such efforts.

The majority of Girl Scout adults feel that Girl Scouting has helped its members learn about minorities and also that minorities have had a positive impact on Girl Scouting. Almost half of all Girl Scout girls feel that minorities have made Girl Scouting better. Sixty-three percent believe that Girl Scouting has helped its members learn about minorities. Nine out of ten girl members think that Girl Scouting should teach its members about minority cultures.

Among girls who are not members, 84 percent favor the Girl Scouts teaching about minority customs and cultures, and three-fourths feel that Girl Scouting has helped its members learn about minorities. Nearly half believe minorities have made Girl Scouting better.

Among white adults in the general public, 83 percent approve of Girl Scouting. 81 percent of the adults in Girl Scouting, 88 percent support efforts to recruit more minorities into Girl Scouting, and 45 percent believe that minorities have had a positive impact on Girl Scouting.

Minimum housing debate reaches council floor

By GEORGEANN McGEE
of the Press-Record

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk has taken a firm stand at a minimum housing standards law which he told aldermen does not have much of a bite, and he is asking the Granite City Council to consider a more enforceable alternative.

As a result, Mayor Paul Schuler has invited the alderman to discuss with him a workable replacement. Schuler said the talk may produce a questionnaire to be used in canvassing other aldermen's views.

Fisk had suggested that the mayor appoint a citizens' advisory committee to study conditions and report back, in an effort to stop what the alderman called a blight creeping across all city wards.

Less than a year ago, Fisk, chairman of the ordinance committee, watched the committee fail to table a two-year-old ordinance, which obligated his committee to bring in a law to improve city housing standards.

Fisk attempted once more to make his housing point vivid at last week's council meeting by describing a single-family home with a single room, "shed," which, in combination, housed five apartments. He called some situations in his ward "hideous."

"We have a minimum housing code but no enforcement," Fisk said.

"Not placing the blame at the feet of the inspection department, the alderman said that he feels the staff there is doing the best job possible, with the present ordinance.

City Attorney John Papa said the current law cannot be used to enforce housing standards. He told aldermen a condemnation procedure, the only avenue that can be taken now, Mayor Schuler suggested that the city council come up with a "very simple ordinance" outlining the specific problems it wants controlled and have Papa draft the results.

"The first ordinance...there were a couple of things that were pretty ridiculous," said Mayor Schuler, referring to a detailed sample ordinance.

The example required room size compliance and the inspection of housing units for enforcement purposes. The same ordinance never actually reached the council floor.

Alderman Sam Whitmer claimed the city would have had to "tear all the houses down" to make the sample ordinance enforceable.

Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman said his ward has experienced problems, but "The law is very reluctant to move on private property...we've been told we can't do anything about it."

Schuman had voted against tabling the mandate given to the ordinance committee to return a minimum housing law. Tuesday, he said he was at a loss on what can be done about neighborhood conditions affecting families that keep up their homes.

After Alderman Warren Decatur put the formation of a citizens' advisory committee in the form of a motion, the members of the aldermen themselves will have to sit down and decide in what direction to go next.

"Unfortunately, there are those who feed on...others," Fisk told councilmen when defending the past minimum housing standards.

According to him, the intent of such a law is not "to make life so miserable that people can't live in their own homes." He claimed that improvements, which might need to bring some apartments in compliance would not drive up the costs to tenants. "Compliance is going to determine price," Fisk said.

Fisk also said he looks towards an law that would result in homes that are kept painted, that are not overly crowded and that are safe enough to occupy.

Third Ward Alderman Carl Kittle said landlords object to the capital outlay involved. Fisk said he believes that landlords feel they would be pressured by a housing ordinance. "I didn't get one protest from so-called sum landlords," the mayor said.

"There is to be nothing done," Fisk said, because he does not have the time to hold hands with frightened residents who are afraid of neighborhood conditions.

since it was producing harmful fumes. "The fumes could be injurious and direct contact with the acid could be very dangerous," Smolich said.

He noted that the fire department's library was considered during the cleanup, but it did not deal with the acid. His recommendations were to contain the acid with dykes of sand and then to neutralize it with a base substance (the opposite of acid), such as lime. Those recommendations were followed.

Smolich also said that the recommendations include removal of the contaminated soil to prevent the acid from reaching the Chain of Rocks Canal and the Mississippi River, which is a source of drinking water for this area.

Smolich said removal of the dirt may not be necessary in this case, since the amount of acid spilled was so small. He estimated the "puddle" caused by the acid was about 30 by 40 feet.

Ranft said he was not aware that the dirt may have to be removed, but said he would look into the matter and the port district will comply with necessary safety measures.

The port authority Department also will be required to notify the Illinois Department of Transportation of the acid spill, Smolich said.

This was not a major spill and the brisk winds helped to disperse the fumes. Had there been a more densely populated area, we could have had more problems from the fumes," Smolich said. He noted that there was no danger to nearby residents of West Granite Friday from the fumes.

First telephone tax receipts due

Illinois Bell expects to "ring up" approximately $20,000 in tax receipts during the first collection month of Granite City's new five-percent telephone tax.

The check should arrive at the treasurer's office by the end of this month, according to Kenneth Evers, local Illinois Bell Telephone manager (and a native Edwardsvillean).

The Illinois Bell mostly estimate meshes well with Mayor Paul Schulz's original projection of a $250,000 yearly revenue from the new tax. Evers said the city will continue to receive a monthly check.

The tax was passed last December on a 7-7 vote when the mayor cast the tie-breaking "aye." At that time, a 60 to 90-day wait had been anticipated to allow a preparation period for the telephone company.

Some Illinois Bell customers began receiving the added-on city tax to their bills about Feb. 4. The company now is in the process of completing its first billing cycle with the tax. The company says it will bill customers by exchanges throughout the month.

"It's going very well," Evers said.

The company spokesman said some customers had called up to complain about the new charge, but the company received few inquiries about it.

The only problem the company faced Illinois Bell is setting up a special tax coding system to identify customers residing within the Granite City limits, Evers said. That procedure has been accomplished.

The telephone tax is the only utility tax imposed by Granite City. A notice included with telephone bills stating that Granite City has imposed taxes on utilities is misleading.

Debate use of community development funds

A public meeting to discuss the formation of a Community Development Fund in this area has been called by the Eagle Park Action Committee for 12 noon Saturday, March 12.

Eagle Park Improvement Association, said the meeting will take place at the Eagle Park Improvement Association Hall, 100 Hill St. Salmond said Friday, "The committee already has sent a letter to President Ronald Reagan asking for the suspension of all Community Development funds to Madison County until a meeting of District Two (the Quad-City area) can be reconvened to discuss the allocation of funds in a fairer manner."

District Two includes the communities of Granite City, Venice and Madison plus Nameoki, Granite City, Venice, and Chouteau townships and the village of Ponton Beach.

Salmond said a District Two meeting was held Feb. 9 in the city hall in Granite City to discuss distribution of Community Development funds, amounting to $558,000 for 1982-83. The allocations were based on the population of participating communities in Nameoki Township, he said.

After the meeting, which he did not attend, Salmond said he learned that the population breakdown for the unincorporated area of Nameoki Township was listed at 136 people, resulting in the township expected to receive only $1,171 from the funding program in 1982.

Eagle Park, which has mostly in Venice Township, has about 1,760 residents. An additional 200 persons in the unincorporated community live in Nameoki Township, he said. The committee chairman said families living on Chouteau Island and in the Benjamin Addition also are included among the unlikely population count of 136 for the unincorporated Venice Township areas.

The auto crossed the westbound lanes of Ponton Road and struck a tree on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Carney appeared to have suffered severe injuries and an ambulance was called, the report said.

county has the facilities to collect and distribute the tax money at no cost to the taxing districts. This can be performed with the same speed as town collectors.

"I feel that statements that have been made during the campaign concerning the amount of assessments and the cost of collection are, at the very least, unfounded," Henkhaus concluded.

Painter said in his response, "Tax billing and collection could be speeded by expanding the current County Board of Review from three to five members. We could then have a committee of recently-inflated tax assessments, the only possible way to speed individual tax hearings and, therefore, speed up the entire tax cycle would be to increase the size of the Board of Review."

The current Board of Review, however, has given written testimony to various screening committees concerning his personal extension of time allowed to pay tax bills. But the only people benefiting from this extended period of time are large corporations and large financial and lending institutions.

"Most individual homeowners pay monthly tax escrow increments with their monthly mortgage payments. These monies are then held until bills are prepared."

"The longer the financial institution has to hold money to pay the complete tax bill, the more money they keep for themselves by using the homeowners' money. At the same time, our hard-pressed taxing districts are borrowing from these same institutions, again at homeowners' expense."

"The county should consider a complete on-line computer system that would allow for daily or weekly tax distributions. Tax monies received by the treasurer belong to the taxing districts and should be distributed immediately," Painter said.

"It has never been the duty or responsibility of the county treasurer to hold onto tax revenues for taxing districts."

"He is charged with the responsibility of collecting and distributing the monies so that they can go to work sooner."

"I favor changing the tax collection cycle to possibly a quarter payment system to make sure the taxes are obtained sooner. If this is not possible, I would favor an estimated tax bill being made available for payment on June 30. This would help taxing bodies in knowing exactly when they are going to get their receipts."

"Tax billings should be made as close as possible to the June 1 date stipulated in the law," Painter said.

"And second installments should be payable one month later."

"One can only think of the tremendous interest savings our area taxing bodies could have had if our billings would have been timely in 1980 and 1981."

Township collectors should be retained in individual areas where individual large taxpayers will cooperate with local officials. Townships in which collectors also serve dual functions—such as being a city treasurer—should also be included in the collection system.

"It is great for the present county treasurer to say how fast distributions are being made this year. But what would you expect? This is an election year."

It is also interesting that many local school administrators were instrumental in getting legislation passed that required the present treasurer to distribute tax monies within 30 days or be forced to pay interest earned on said monies.

The Price-Waterhouse audit found that on Nov. 30, 1980, the aggregate value of 26 collection accounts and the central collector's account was $11,700,000. None of these accounts earn interest. Thus, the treasurer could properly invested for one week at 12 percent, this money would have earned $2,000—enough to pay the treasurer's salary.

"Six banks held funds in excess of 75 percent of either capital stock and surplus, a violation of state law. Why didn't our present county treasurer in violation of the statutes and who benefited?"

"The county held over $3,600,000 in uninvested cash in 10 bank accounts and over $100,000 in a checking account of the more than $13,800,000 cited. $12,200,000 was under the treasurer's responsibility. There were 59 non-interest bearing accounts and 48 different investments, rather than the money being pooled, for better utilization of funds for government."

Painter continued, "I favor a cash management program that will assure complete investment of all idle funds. Recent audit recommendations have shown the present treasurer to be incapable—or not caring—in the basic operation of his office."

"The present treasurer should be investigated for violating state statutes by having too much invested in individual banks in direct violation of Illinois state laws."

Painter pointed letters from Henkhaus to some precinct committeemen in which the treasurer appeared to say that "we in the north know that the south doesn't do things our way." I am asking for your support as an officeholder from northern Madison County. Once again party leaders from the southern end of the county have made an endorsement for all areas of the country."

Painter said countywide elected officers reside in Granite City, although Granite City Democratic Chairman William Harrison chaired the screening panel because the county chairman was hospitalized, Henkhus and Painter both appeared before a screening committee of the Madison Democratic Central Committee sessions of Madison County, not just the southern portion.

Stille, who is supervisor of Edwardsville Township, also appeared for screening. The Madison County Democratic Central Committee later endorsed Painter for treasurer.

Stille said to Painter, "Record that he regards Henkhus' record as unacceptable, with huge sums left uninvested and undistributed for long periods of time, even though the treasurer has had enough service in the office to learn its function."

He said, "I feel that increasing computerization and to immediate tax distribution. He would continue to respect some townships' current practices of conducting their own public collection."

The supervisor praised the work of such township-level collectors as City Treasurer Nick Petrillo of Granite City, Evelyn Bowles as county clerk, Emil Toffatt as sheriff and Jim McPhee in the state legislature. And if the committee had it ways four years ago, I would not be county treasurer now."

The treasurer said in a press conference that he is devoting full time to the office, and pointed out that both of his primary opponents hold other governmental positions and also are active in private business.

His campaign statements in recent weeks have assailed "machine politicians who have made their decision that they should control county government."

If the screening committee had allowed him to do so, we wouldn't have the outstanding people we now have in the office," Charles Lawson, Thesis Franks, Loretta Cook, Lois Robinson, Lynn Parks and Beverly Imming.

In addition to discussing plans for the conversion of the former junior high school building into a library, March 15 meeting, a discussion will be held on the possibility of getting more than four students into the Collinville vocational program.

Jim Riskovsky, chairman of the vocational committee, told the Press-Record that the committee has not met for nearly a year, as they have been waiting for the architect's plans.

Citizens serving on the committee are Stan Howlett, Gerald McGraw, John Belford, Wayne Scannell, Richard Zeissel, John Mangoff, George Dittman, Jack Friedman, and Miss Diana Holloman.

Committee members on the faculty of the new Middle school are John Petish, Nancy Goodwin and Earl McClanahan.

Committee members on the faculty of the high school are Daniel Koenig, Lee Sherrill, Charles Lawson, Thesis Franks, Loretta Cook, Lois Robinson, Lynn Parks and Beverly Imming.

Riskovsky said the conversion plans should be ready in about three weeks, but not in time for the March 15 meeting.

stitutions would offer good returns of interest if given the opportunity to handle invested funds," he remarked.

Stille noted that as a member of the Madison County mass transit district (MCMT), Stille has quickly invested the tax proceeds.

He said that as county treasurer he would work closely with others to assure a faster tax collection and distribution cycle, and a lower taxing rate. His interest on the tax funds and do less borrowing.

His experience in government includes being elected as Edwardsville Township collector in 1973, and being elected to office in the Illinois state collectors' association—for example while he was collector—for completing one of the taxes collected brought testimonial from the various taxing bodies. This work is one of the most important duties of the office of county treasurer," he commented.

Visualizing a major computerized computerized system procedures over the next five years, Stille said he can picture a computer being installed in the Quad-City area for such purposes as well as elsewhere in the county.

He adds, "I believe in rapid payment of the taxes collected to the taxing bodies, because the money, not the treasurer's, is there. There should be investment of county taxes and other taxes while in the treasurer's hands; $12 million should not lie idle in a checking account for even one day."

"The investment of funds in my judgment to the supervisor and treasurer of the Edwardsville Township road district has been termed 'excellent' by the township's independent auditor. The last township audit revealed $211,879 invested and $23 in checking accounts, a kind of investment that can be done with county tax dollars," Stille asserted.

In his appearance before the Democratic screening committee late last year, Henkhus stressed that "since I was elected in 1978, I have increased the investment of funds in the township districts from $2 to $10 million and I have been working on a cash management program that will insure that 100 percent of idle funds will be invested. This plan should be completed in the next 30 days."

"I have earned for the county over $4,800,000 in interest on idle funds, $1,000,000 for this fiscal year. The entire budget for the treasurer's office decreased $2,000 at a time when other levels of government are investing more than we can do with county tax dollars," Stille asserted.

Employment survey taken next week

The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct a regular survey on employment and unemployment in this area during next week, March 15 to 20, according to Marvin L. Postma, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Kansas City.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the March survey will include others concerning the work experience of the population, place of residence of household members last year and whether they have moved since March, 1981.

Households in this area are part of the sample of 71,000 across the country selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides information on the level of activity in the labor force. The January survey indicated that of the 108,9 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 99.6 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 8.5 percent, down from 8.9 percent in December.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

New voting districts explained

Evelyn Bowles, Madison county clerk, has advised that the redistricting of Madison County has resulted in several changes. Members of the General Assembly will now be running in single-member representative districts and the senatorial candidates will still be running in the 112th Representative District.

Madison County now is entirely within the 21st Congressional District. The Quad-City area is in the 58th Legislative and 11th Representative District, except those portions of Chouteau Precincts 2, 3 and 7, which are within the villages of South Roxana and Hartford. They are in the 112th Representative District.

Voters who are in precincts which are split into two representative districts will receive new voter identification cards (pink cards) prior to the primary. These new cards will stipulate the district in which the voter is entitled to cast a ballot, Miss Bowles said.

Passage of the Cut-back Amendment has already with the cumulative voting provision which had been in effect in Illinois for more than 100 years. It will no longer be possible to cast more than a single vote for candidates for the General Assembly, she added.

County Board districts in the Quad-City area are made up of the following precinct: District 16—Chouteau 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7; District 19—Grande 21, 22, 23, 24, 31 and 34; Nameoki 5, 6 and 8; District 20—Grande City 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28; District 21—Grande City 11, 13, 14, 17, 28, 30 and 33; District 22—Grande City 4, 5, 7, 8, 12, 15, 16, 25 and 33; District 23—Grande City 9 and 29; Grande 1, 2, 4, 7, 9, 10 and 11; Nameoki 1, 2, 4, 7, 9, 10 and 12.

Communication disorders of elderly to be discussed

A workshop detailing normal language and communication abilities of the aging will be held Friday, March 12, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, sponsored by the Gerontology Program.

"Communication Disorders and Aging" is a day-long series aimed at health professionals and para-professionals who regularly care for the elderly and need to know the basic knowledge and skills in dealing with communication problems.

Normally, every April, deposits are awarded to competing banks for a full year under the treasurer's basic deposit program. Banks throughout the state are invited to submit bids for their deposits. They are awarded funds by computer according to a formula that considers bank size, interest rate bid, and outstanding loan.

Revenue analyses conducted by his office showed a $32 million shortfall in sales and income tax revenues for January. These losses are expected to decline through the remainder of the fiscal year. Consentino has converted all maturing deposits into 90-day investments.

"The shorter maturity schedule will enable the state to continue monitoring the state's fiscal condition while maintaining sufficient liquidity to react to further revenue shortfalls," Consentino said.

"For the previous two months, as revenues were declining, the state's cash flow was sufficient to permit long-term investing. However, the continued recessionary imbalance in revenues and spending has caused the state's investment base to erode considerably. All available revenues are needed to pay the state's bills on time."

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides information on the level of activity in the labor force.

Show compares hotel operations with functions of the brain

The next time you check into a hotel, imagine that you're inside a giant brain. That's the idea behind "The Neuron Suite," an innovative special airing at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow, on Channel 9. The Neuron Suite is a 60-minute exploration of the human brain and nervous system, guided by science expert, journalist and showman James Burke. Creator of the popular public television series "Connections," which has been widely applauded for his creative synthesis of science and society. In The Neuron Suite, he uses the self-hosted society of a luxury hotel as metaphor to explain how the nervous system communicates and to demonstrate the complex chemistry which directs its functions.

Once settled into the "neuron suite," Burke uses scientific diagrams, illustrations, animation and his own imagination to describe the chemistry behind brain activity and to show what happens when this chemistry malfunctions.

With special "X-rays," Burke points out specific areas of the brain at work and shows how the brain is affected by a musical concert and an epileptic seizure.

Bogus $20 bills circulated here

"Warning, watch for counterfeit $20 bills," cautions Drew Karandjeff, president of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

All merchants should be especially alert and warn their salespeople that a counterfeit ring has recently passed bogus $20 bills in this area, he said. Karandjeff indicated that bogus Federal Reserve Notes currently circulating in this area have the following identifying features: Federal Reserve Board letter "H," Series 1977, Check Letter "E," Face Plate Number 450 and Back Plate Number 395. The serial number varies. Also $20 bills with "L," 1977, "E," 24 and 527, in the same order.

The United States Secret Service suggests the following for anyone receiving a counterfeit bill:

1—Do not return it to the passer.

2—Delay the passer by some excuse, if possible, while you telephone the police or the United States Secret Service (1-314-425-4283).

3—Describe the passer's description of any companion or vehicle used.

4—Write your initials and the date on the bill and surrender the bill only to the police or the United States Secret Service.

5—Keep the bill for identification purposes.

6—Report the bill to the police or the United States Secret Service.

High school honor roll is planned

Establishment of a high school honor roll after more than a decade without one was approved last week by the Granite City Board of Education.

State Rep. B. J. Davis said there was some past opposition to the honor roll concept, based on the belief that it exerted excessive pressure on students.

"Thinking has changed on this topic over the years, and the attitude of students also is different today," he commented.

"We are hopeful that it will provide a way to recognize those who go forth extra effort and time on their school work."

Board Secretary Robert Maxwell praised the honor roll idea, saying it will spotlight students with outstanding scholastic records in addition to the extensive recognition currently accorded students for a variety of other accomplishments.

Warren Collins, administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools, told the board that South Principal James Dumont, North Principal Gilbert Walmsley and department heads at the two senior high schools have requested that an honor roll be established.

He selected "A committee consisting of Edward Lenzen, R. William Rotter, Albert Zebio, Mildred Collins, Harold Gebhardt and Gordon Michaeloff" has drafted guidelines. The committee's recommendation has been endorsed by the principals and department heads.

"The honor roll will be compiled each semester, based on grades for that semester and not based on an overall average.

"Requirements for inclusion on the honor roll will be a 4.2 grade point average or better for the current semester and no grade lower than a C.

"High honors will be indicated for students with an average of 5.0 for the current semester, with no grades lower than a C.

"Names will be listed alphabetically within each category and also will be divided by class in school-freshman, sophomore, junior and senior.

"This system is used by many high schools at universities with very good results," Collins concluded.

PROGRAM FOCUSES ON EINSTEIN'S LIFE

The world remembers Albert Einstein as an older man with a worn countenance, dark deep-set eyes and a great fuzz of white hair — a style, he once explained, which was achieved through "concentrated negligence."

It is due to an accident of photography that we see him that way — great photographers did not train their lenses on him until he was in his 60s and 70s. And yet, Einstein had completed most of his great revolutionary work by the time he was 26 years old.

Peter Ustinov and science writer Nigel Calder will take turns viewing the "Einstein's Universe" tonight at 8:10 p.m. on Channel 9. The program aims to make the great scientist and his work more comprehensible to a wide audience.

Throughout his life, Einstein demonstrated a passion for simplicity, both in his scientific work and in his private life. He cared nothing about money; he turned his money over to the Nobel Prize fund to charity and he once walked around for weeks using a $1,000 check as a bookmark.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS, a record, was collected during the two-day drive of the Illinois Knights of Columbus Mentally Retarded Campaign and now is being distributed to organizations aiding the mentally disabled. State Chairman Gus Sundermeier of Oak Lawn, left, presents a symbolic check for $1 million to State Deputy Darrell W. Beck of Decatur, center, and State Secretary Robert T. Kellam of Chicago looks on approvingly. Actually, the money is being divided to aid many organizations.

Knights distributing $1 million raised in fall candy sale drive

Proceeds from the record $1 million Illinois Knights of Columbus Mentally Retarded Drive are now in the process of distribution to many community institutions, schools, and organizations caring for the special children and young adults. State Deputy Darrell W. Beck of Decatur has announced.

The gross collections from the two-day fund-raising program set an all-time record, bringing the 12-year total of funds raised to $7.3 million, Beck said.

Other than the cost of the candy used in the promotion of the campaign and very minimal operating costs, all of the money collected goes directly to the community for distribution to approved organizations for the mentally retarded.

Ten percent of the gross is directed to major statewide programs for the mentally handicapped. A sizeable portion is donated to the Illinois Special Olympics Inc. Two large food chains in the Chicago area are donating five percent of the proceeds made by the Knights and their friends over a three-day span to supplement intended grants for the Special Olympics.

Gus Sundermeier of Oak Lawn, state chairman of the Knights' mentally retarded program, credits the record-breaking year to more than 7,500 K of C and volunteers who took part in the statewide drive last fall and to the acceptance of the program by the public.

More than 42 percent of the gross was collected by Knights and volunteers in the Archdiocese of Chicago, an area which includes Lake and Cook counties and the Chicago Loop on Oct. 30-31.

More than $402,700 was contributed by the public to this cause.

Special donations topped $45,000 from supplemental programs staged in behalf of the Knights' MR drive.

Granite City boxers compete in St. Louis Golden Gloves competition

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

There are almost as many reasons as there are kids to go to the Lincoln Place Community Center on Niedringhaus Avenue. All participate in their favorite sport.

Some play basketball, others volleyball, some wrestle and still others go to fight.

Fighters. Not in the sense that they're overly large kids who go there looking to bully others. They're boxers. Boxers sponsored by the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City.

Boxers who, this week, are competing in the Golden Gloves boxing competition at the North County Recreation Complex in Florissant, Mo.

In spite of the club's seeming apathy, the boxers feel actually of Mexican descent. The club's goals are to promote amateur boxing, no matter what race, religion, color or creed.

In all, six of the club's 25 boxers are or will represent MHC in Golden Gloves competition.

Competition began last weekend and runs through this Saturday with the semi-finals, followed by the finals next Saturday at Kiel Auditorium on March 20.

They're like most kids. They enjoy a good game of street football, or a neighborhood game of baseball, only they're boxers.

Most are bright kids, who at first glance, look like soccer players, or even cross country runners, not boxers. But, at various weight classes, when they put their heads and arms through their tank tops and lace up the gloves, they're all boxers.

They work out most nights, six nights a week, doing sit-ups, jumping jacks and rope, neck bridges and shadow boxing.

They take turns "working the bag," while others shadow box against the padded ceiling of the basement.

Every corner of the basement has posters of World Boxing Association champions of present and past.

Holmes, Duran, Spinks, Frazier, they're all there. They too are peeling and have yellowed, but only on the walls, not in the idolizing eyes of the young boxers.

"My favorite? Hey," who else but Sugar Ray?" said Richard Mendoza. "I used to like Roberto Duran, but now I'm afraid he's about had it."

Mendoza, who had planned to compete in Golden Gloves competition, was unable to practice in his first bout.

His father, Mercie, is the coach of the three-year-old MHC boxing club.

The elder Mendoza was himself a Golden Gloves champion in the mid-50's, winning the 112 pound title.

"We've got a good bunch of kids here," Mendoza said. "It's great to see them grow up as good as some of the St. Louis clubs we're competing against, but we hold our own."

Mendoza explained that having fewer team boxers than some of the larger metropolitan teams, in some aspects, improves the quality. Mendoza said, "We're a small club, I like to think that allows us to spend more time with each kid, thus making him a better boxer."

Another MHC boxer, Mickey Valentine, did compete over the weekend. Valentine, 24, is one of the club's oldest boxers.

With a record of 121 and 29 going into Saturday night's competition, Valentine lost to Steve Erhart of the St. Charles boxing club on a technicality.

Valentine, after receiving a standing eight count, stepped out of the ring in the second round disqualifying himself from competition.

"I wasn't hurt. He (the referee) gave me the eight, I was straight. It wasn't right," Valentine said.

Unofficially, Valentine was leading

Erhart with a first round knockout before he exited the ring, forfeiting the fight.

Unlike his younger teammates, Valentine did not let it affect the St. Louis Education as a porter.

"Ya, it's tough for me working all day; then coming out here to fight, but I manage. The other kids have school, to them that's work."

Valentine, officially from St. Louis, son of a highly of his adopted Granite City teammates.

"These guys are really great.

They've treated me like a brother."

"My best offensive weapon? It's got to my hook, my left hook. I'm a southpaw," Valentine said.

Reader critical of IHSA officiating

Since Vandalia's upset victory over Madison in the first round of the IHSA boys' basketball tournament last week, numerous persons have called the Press-Record sports department commenting about that game, and in particular the officials of that game.

No one has expressed disappointment in the manner and quality in which the game was officiated. All were asked to put their comments in letter form and submit them to the Sports Mailbag. Numerous comments were received, but most were not signed as directed. The following is one signed comment by the sportsman's creed:

The rules.
He is fair and firm in all decisions. He calls them as he sees them.

He treats players and coaches courteously and demands the same treatment for himself.

He knows the game is for athletes, and lets them have the spotlight.

Great! Why when state basketball tournament play begins all of the above are not valid?

Mildred M. Zarr
Madison

Some poetic justice would be in order for the officials.

It seems the IHSA has a spot of trouble. Now would be a good time for a serious look into the nature of set-up for all regions, sectional and super-sectionals action in the Class A and AA pairings.

Let's have some promising results from the IHSA to protect our future high school athletes from officiating out-of-control at tournament play that are politically motivated.

You've got to wonder where Milwaukee Bucks' Coach Don Nelson's head was at when he made this comment after a recent sloppy win.

"We don't care how the grapes are crushed as long as the wine turns out fine."

Free throws defeat Steelers

By TERESA GULL
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Free throws. Those 15 foot, unguarded shots, to make from a fan's viewpoint.

But the girls on the Granite City North basketball team know better. Especially after their Friday night game against Belleville Althoff at Grigsby Jr. High School.

North fell to Althoff 45-40 because of poor free throw shooting. Harry Cook, North's head coach, just shake his head in dismay at North's shooting from the line.

"Our free throws obviously lost us the ballgame," Cook said. "I'm probably sure we missed the front end of eight or nine one and ones."

North made only four out of 14 attempts from the free throw line for 29 percent. Althoff hit 71 percent of their attempts, making 17 out of 24 free throws.

In the first half, the teams played evenly, with the lead between the two teams. By the end of the third quarter, however, Althoff had built a nine point lead. In the last four minutes of the third quarter, North scored only two points.

Same key shooting by Trina Davis in the fourth quarter helped North close the gap, but they could never get closer than five points. Miss Davis scored six of her team leading 14 points in the fourth quarter.

North's aggressive, overplaying defense was successful in bothering Althoff's offense, but it also got North in some foul problems. North was called for 17 fouls, many of them for running into.

"I thought the officials called a very close game," Cook said. "The other games have had the officials haven't called that close. I think they called it good game."

In addition to Miss Davis's 14 points, Kim Fountain also added 10 points for North.

Althoff was lead by Linda Parker with 14 points, Kathy Crotty with 12 points, and Debbie Bielickie with 10 points. Miss Crotty scored all of her points in the first half. She sprained her right ankle at the end of the first half and did not return to action in the second half.

With the loss, North finished its regular season at 9-10, just short of their goal of a .500 season.

"And we could have finished at .500." They had every opportunity. Cook said,

"We came close. The thing is we're all back except one. That's going to be OK."

Long finishes fifth in Eastern meet

CHARLESTON — David Long of Granite City North placed in the triple jump in an indoor track meet at Eastern Illinois University on Saturday.

Long jumped 42 feet to earn fifth place. He was the only North team member who placed in the meet.

Harry Lang, North's head track coach, said Lang's performance places him among the top 20 triple jumpers in Illinois.

"That's a really good performance. That's an outstanding performance — 42 feet," Lang said.

The indoor meet at Eastern featured between 30 and 40 teams from throughout the state. East St. Louis Lincoln won the meet.

This was the first meet competition of the season for the North team. Nine team members competed in 10 events.

"I was really pleased with our overall performance," Lang said. "Our times compare very favorably to past indoor meets. I'm really, really pleased.

Traditionally we don't run well early. We run our best times at districts."

Travelers 'visit' Czechoslovakia

With Czechoslovakia as the topic, Travelers Abroad held its February meeting last week with 35 members and one guest, Lucille Veach, present.

President Betty Townsend conducted the business meeting. Certificates of commendation were presented to the following for their service to the organization during 1981:

Mrs. Mary Evanson, secretary; Miss Mary Hiller, treasurer; Miss Julieanne Hirschler, vice-president of arrangements; Mrs. Barbara Williams, vice-president of publicity; and Miss Linda Pines, vice-president of programs.

Due to 1982 were accepted and any member not receiving the monthly meeting notice was asked to notify Mrs. Helen Klemmick.

After the program, chairman, introduced Miss Townsend, who presented a narrated slide program on Czechoslovakia. She related:

"Entering Czechoslovakia from the west or the other neighboring country is a time-consuming job. One waits while border guards check passports, check some persons' luggage, and check the luggage compartments under the bed to see that no persons have been arranged across the border. Meanwhile, dogs sniff for various products."

While all that is going on, one can see several men in the fields, armed with guns and binoculars, watching the scene. Of course, the area is ringed with electrified barbed-wire fences also, the government-managed.

Czechoslovakia is about the size of New York State, but has only about 80 percent of the population.

Rugged mountains, rolling hills, and fertile plains are all found there. Most farmers work on large farms that are government-managed.

The capital is Prague, in English. But when one looks at maps or souvenirs purchased there, one sees the Slovak spelling "Praga."

Prague, which suffered all damage during World War II, so its older sections remain as they were several centuries ago.

The skyline surrounding Prague castle is deemed to be one of the most beautiful in the world. The Hradcany Square features "The Fighting Giants," statues created in 1788 by Ignatius Platner. These are immense sculptures.

Miss Townsend showed several pictures of the changing of the palace guard, complete with the band accompaniment.

Throughout the time of the tour, the athletic Spartakiade was taking place in Prague.

This activity is held every five years in the Strahov Stadium, which holds 250,000 spectators, and is for Czech youth only. This year, there were 200,000 spectators.

For over 120 years, physical education has been deeply rooted in that country, so the Spartakiade is an extremely popular festivity. Now, it combines the physical training celebration with an anniversary of the Soviet Army's so-called "national liberation struggle."

Red flags were flying everywhere. The guides informed the western visitors that the signs announced, "We are a Soviet State."

Prague, according to Miss Townsend, is known as the "City of a Hundred Spires," because of its many churches. Most are non-functional now because religion is discouraged by the government. Plaques from Prague feature these many types of spires.

The largest and most beautiful of the cathedrals is St. Vitus, which was started in the tenth century by Wenceslas I.

The present cathedral was begun in 1348, its fourteenth century, and was not finished until 1929. One of its highly visible features is a high-ranking German overlord.

St. Vitus is treasured by the Czechs in the same manner that Americans are of the Statue of Liberty.

Adjoining the cathedral is Vladislav Hall, constructed in 1493, in which all the coronations of the former Bohemian kings were held and where many gatherings, including presidential elections are now held.

"The miraculous statue of the Infant of Prague is located in Our Lady Victorious Catholic Church, the speaker said. There are two copies of this statue made, and, several years ago, one was located in St. Louis. The third statue's whereabouts is unknown.

"Old Town," the historical center of Prague, is on the hill above the castle, across from Castle Hill. Its main entrance is guarded by the Powder Tower.

In the middle of the square is a monument to John Hus, a Czech monk and religious reformer from the 1400s.

The Old Town Hall features an astronomical clock which attracts all visitors on the hour. It consists of two large dials which divide the day into 24 hours and show the position of the planets, moon, and a complete calendar.

On the hour a cock crows, and a skeleton pulls a chain which opens two windows, before which parade iron figures representing the 12 apostles.

Then the windows close again until the next hour arrives.

Legend says that the originator of this clock in 1410 was a man named Zizka, who was blinded so that he could not make another one.

The legend continues that, as he was dying, he put his hand into the clock works and it stopped for centuries. It also states that Zizka was blinded by the Nazis during World War II when German Nazis shot hundreds of Prague citizens.

One of the sections in the Old Town is the Jewish ghetto. Many Jewish persons were killed by the Nazis during their wartime occupation of Prague.

down the stairs in order to meet bus and meal schedules.

A member of a different tour said her group was housed between the 14th and 16th floors and that even 80-year-old tour members were forced to do the stair-walking occasionally in order to avoid being left behind.

To find an elevator working when one needed it was considered a luxury.

In closing, Miss Townsend said the entire reason for the trip was to see the sights of a housing shortage and governmental restrictions against migration.

According to Miss Townsend, after a trip to a communistic country, one more easily enjoys the luxuries and freedoms offered by our own capitalist and democratic country.

The next meeting of Travelers Abroad will be on Monday night, March 22.

Historical group studies antiques

Approximately 35 persons attended the March meeting of Old Six Mile Historical Society last week at Tri-Mor Bowls. Ron Coleman, president, discussed antiques.

President Ron Coleman called the meeting to order and conducted a brief business meeting. He announced that the charter and incorporation papers for the group had been completed and have been recorded in Edwardsville. The club now is officially recognized by both the state and the county. A tax-exempt application has been filed. Attorney Marvin Barnes is serving as the legal counselor in these endeavors. Coleman said.

In order to determine which directors' terms expire in May, one of the members drew three names from the air pocket. The remaining terms expiring this year are Mrs. Bischoff, Norman Hollingshead and Mrs. Marguerite Lexow. The nominating committee will present a proposed slate of new officers and members at the April meeting, with the election to be held at the annual meeting in May. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

tiques—furniture, china, guns, coins, pottery, iron, and primitives or woodenware.

Age does not necessarily mean an antique—it might have some value, perhaps beauty or perhaps utilitarian.

Today's antique shows really should not be called that—they should be called collectors' shows. Handicraft societies have been checked, and the limited space is difficult to overcome.

Coleman introduced Mrs. Bischoff, who said her challenge that night was to talk about antiques, the history of the area, and that she hoped her remarks would bring their history out of home closets and cabinets. Mrs. Bischoff reiterated that she is not an authority on antiques, but a collector—or—but that she and her husband do antique shows all over the country.

The United States government clarified what an antique is back in 1930. At that time a rule was established that said an item could be brought into the country as an antique, and duty-free, had to be at least 100 years old. That rule still holds, but today, young people think anything that "grandma" had is an antique.

Today we have collectors and collections, some of which bring fine-art prices. Many collectors' items, even though relatively young in years, are bringing antique prices. Mrs. Bischoff listed several categories of anticues—furniture, china, guns, coins, pottery, iron, and primitives or woodenware.

A mustache cup and a shaving mug, looking quite similar to the inexperienced eye, were shown and the differences noted. Pieces of pewter and bronze were shown, as well as spatter china. The last items displayed were truly indicative of this area. They were Indian relics from a varied Indian village which was located on the Bischoff property. A number of pieces of items, even a complete article, were of a material not found in this area, which indicated that the Indians had a trading system with other areas.

In closing, Mrs. Bischoff said that ever since 1896, all imported items are supposed to have a paper decal of origin. This worked fine until paper decals came along. Often, now, the decal falls off and one knows absolutely nothing about the product.

There will be an antique and collectors' show at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, March 13 and 14 which many would find interesting, according to Mrs. Bischoff.

The next meeting of the group will be on Monday night, April 5.

State takes closer look at school bus drivers

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced a four-point program to tighten administration of school bus driving permits, which are issued by local regional school superintendents and are based, in part, on test results of driving records relayed by Edgar's office.

Edgar said the program was developed during two months of cooperative efforts among his office, the State Board of Education and the Regional School Superintendents Association.

"We took some actions immediately when problems on school bus safety came to light this year," Edgar said, "and other actions have to await approval by the other agencies involved."

"We have made changes that should prevent persons who are ineligible from getting or keeping a permit to drive a bus."

"Our children deserve the same protection. The changes are aimed at making sure school bus drivers have a record of safe driving, and that regional school superintendents have the most reliable and timely information possible when they decide whether to issue a permit."

Steps in the new program include installing fail-safe measures to assure that an applicant's eligibility does not change between the time of application and the time he is hired.

In the past, Edgar said, potentially unsafe drivers had slipped through the cracks in the system" in this unmonitored period between application and employment.

The second point of Edgar's program is to add credit to a eight-year trial by requiring the Secretary of State employees to fill out an application which contains information that is immediately entered into a computer system.

The Secretary of State now requires regional school superintendents to supply two copies of the school bus driver permit application when a check of the driver's history is made at a Secretary of State facility.

One copy is kept by the regional school superintendent, and the new, second copy is kept by the Secretary of State's office.

"The tighter audit trial will mean greater accountability and integrity in the system," Edgar said.

Programmers notify computers to notify authorities immediately when there is a change in the driving record of permit holders would be included in Edgar's third point.

Finally, employees responsible for relaying information about prospective bus driver's driving history would be retained.

Under state law, school bus permit applicants must be 21 years or older, have a valid driver's license which includes a commercial or suspended for three years prior to application has not been convicted of reckless driving, driving while intoxicated or manslaughter within three years of application, has no history of conviction for violent crimes, and meets minimum physical fitness requirements.

Edgar's office supplies information about an applicant's driving history and conducts examinations of applications received by local regional school superintendents in evaluating a prospective bus driver.

"My office is continuing to disseminate these and other possible changes with the Regional School Superintendents Association and the State Board of Education," he said.

Investigate rape allegation

An investigation is under way to determine if charges of rape, deviate sexual assault and battery made by a Venice woman against a 29-year-old Madison man.

Madison officers were advised at 2:20 a.m. Saturday that the victim had walked into the Venice Police Department and reported she was beaten and raped near West Second and West Madison streets.

The woman had suffered bruises and insect bites. She was bleeding from the mouth, report said. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated and counseled by a representative from the Rape Crisis Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The victim told police she had been at a tavern in Eagle Park and had accepted a ride to a West Madison tavern from a man she knew slightly.

On Market Street, the man entered into Fox Brothers Road, stopped the auto near the Conlco fence, and began making sexual advances to her. He then threatened her with bodily harm if she failed to cooperate and forced the woman to get into the back of the car.

When she resisted, the man struck her head with his fist, but she managed to get back into the front seat and was again beaten.

At 12:10 p.m. Saturday, the man to whom the vehicle is registered, accompanied by a Venice officer, was interviewed at the Madison police station.

He denied the charges and alleged the woman had asked for a ride to Madison, refused to get out of the vehicle on Weaver Street and then jumped from the auto as it was moving and ran to another vehicle.

He was released pending further investigation.

ARREST FOUR AFTER SPOTLIGHT INCIDENT

Following a report of a car being driven back and forth along Nameoki Road, officers obtained a spotlight at oncoming traffic, the vehicle was stopped at 12:02 a.m. Saturday.

Officers said a spotlight was in plain view on the car's windshield, as well as two open bottles of beer. Six unopened bottles of beer were in a box.

Upon being questioned about purchasing the beer, Timothy A. Grove, 19, of 3319 Princeton Ave., was alleged to have purchased it at a drive-in liquor store. He accompanied the officer to the store, where an employee maintained she had refused to sell beer to Grove who had tried to buy beer earlier that night. It was noted, however, that another woman had been operating the drive-up window at the earlier hour.

Grove was charged with illegal possession of alcohol and officers who checked the vehicle sighted on the same charge, were Diane M. Roberts, 19, of 3145 Davis Ave., and Greg S. Warfield, 17, of 2416 Angela Drive, Jacklyn J. Shelton, 19, of 2437 Wilson Ave., was charged with illegal transportation of liquor.

All were released upon posting their driver's licenses or on notices to appear.
